

equus est velox et homo librōsus librum habet.	IV porcī Rōmānī sunt acrēs et hastās habent.	II canēs Ohiōanī sunt ridiculī et capita magna habent.

SECUNDA EXERCITIO IN DECLINATIONE TERTIA

- porcī grunnīvērunt, “nōs sumus acrēs, sed canibus ridiculīs imparēs sumus.”
- canēs ridiculī porcīs acribus latrābant, “vōsne equum velōcem in ponte vīdistis?”
- equus velox ā porcīs acribus nōn vidēbātur, quod erat difficile vidēre equum velōcem.
- equus velox hinnit, “animālia omnia sunt paria, quod nōs omnēs labōres difficilēs habēmus!”
- porcī acrēs canibus ridiculīs grunniunt, “difficilēs labōres vītāmus! caput equī velōcis est plēnum fābulārum turpium!”
- canēs ridiculī latrābunt, “ō eque velox! porcī acrēs tē ex ponte in flūmen pellere cupiunt!”
- equus velox canibus ridiculīs hinniet, “porcī acrēs mē ex ponte pellere nōn possunt! nōn est facile pellere equum velōcem!”
- quod porcī acrēs equum velōcem audīverint, hominem librōsum ex ponte in flūmen pellent.
- homo librōsus sibi exclāmābit, “porcōs acrēs amāre nōn possum!” et porcōs librō pulsābit.
- sī facile pellere hominem librōsum ex ponte, difficile est vītāre virēs hominis librōsī.

acer, acris, acre “keen, sharp” caput, capitīs (n) “head” cupiō, cupere, cupīvī, cupitum “want” difficilis, difficile “difficult” facilis, facile “easy, do-able” flūmen, flūminis (n) “river” grunniō, grunnīre, grunnīvī, grunnītum “grunt” hinnio, hinnīre, hinnīvī, hinnītum “whinny” impār, imparis “unequal” labor, labōris (m) “labor, suffering” latrō, latrāre, latrāvī, latrātum “bark”	librōsus, librōsa, librōsum “bookish, fond of books” omnis, omne “each, every (sg.); all (plural)” pār, paris “equal” pellō, pellere, pepulī, pulsum “push, strike” pōns, pontis (m) “bridge” possum, posse, potuī, ---- “am able to” sibi “to himself” turpis, turpe “ugly, shameful” velox, velōcis “swift, speedy” vīs, vīris (f) “force, violence, strength” vītō, vītāre, vītāvī, vītātum “shun, avoid”
--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------